Script

Opening is a kite wing in the peaceful countryside sky.

Expanding from the top down are two children who are together flying kite wings under a rice tree, passing each other by bicycle along the dike, while walking and flying kites.

Then the scene was wide, the sun gradually went down, the shadow of two children disappeared.

Moon night then the next morning .....

On a morning, the boy had to follow his parents to the city, the car on the dike that the two of them played together
On that 2 people said goodbye. The boy handed the kite back to her and the two of them parted, the car gradually ran away.

She followed the car with a bored expression.

The next day she played alone, then she was bored and remembered her friend.

After that, she decided to ride the bike to the city to find her friend.

Go through a multitude of roads, fast-forward through scenes, across Nhat Tan bridge. finally she came to the city.

In front of her eyes, there were no more hills, but skyscrapers with dust and smoke and brain-ache.

She still rode her bike with her kite to stay still, looking and walking on the street.

Suddenly she saw the boy playing with new friends at the LOTTE building, she was a little sad and shy to see him happily hanging out with new friends and then turned and rode off to another place - Thu Le Park.

Here she stood on the bridge and dropped the kite high.

While playing with new friends at Lotte building, he saw the kite he made in the smoke, he hurriedly followed the kite.

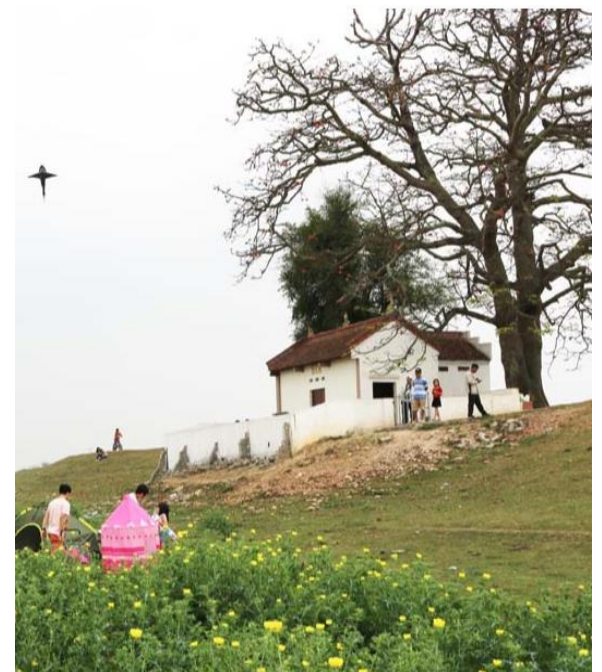

The two met on the bridge and both were surprised and happy with a little emotion that didn't say anything.

The end was the scene where the two rode together, happily dropped kites in the city and stopped, standing by the lake and chatting and dropping kites up. Kite soared up into the sky, through many layers of clouds.
